Description

+++ TECH 'N' TRADE INNOVATOR +++

How about a profession where business administration and IT go hand in hand? An apprenticeship in which theory and practice merge seamlessly? This is exactly what a dual study program in business informatics at DENKINGER offers. Three months of intensive learning at the DHBW Ravensburg followed by three months of practical experience at our head office.

What makes a business IT specialist? Communication skills, team spirit, logical and analytical thinking and a solid understanding of IT. If these skills are anchored in you, then this degree course is made for you. With us, you will be part of projects that redesign business processes and develop operational information systems.

The start of professional life begins on October 1. Three years full of learning opportunities, challenges and growth await you. With your Fachhochschulreife or Abitur certificate in your pocket, the door is open to you. Are you ready to seize this opportunity? Apply to DENKINGER Internationale Spedition and start your future in the field of business informatics / business engineering.
